January 2015

Welcome

Congratulations on the acceptance of your employee as an associate of the PGA's Professional Golf Management program. Your associate has embarked on a journey that will prepare him or her to contribute to the game of golf, success of the golf profession, and success of your facility.

On January 4, 2010, The PGA of America formally launched its new associate education program, PGA Professional Golf Management Program (PGM2.0). This program requires that qualifying courses be passed to be eligible to register as an associate. An online learning management system, The PGA Knowledge Center, was created to allow 24 hour access to course materials. New seminars have been added to increase the number of hours of direct instructor led courses. Associates will attend 5 days of classes at the PGA Education Center for each of the program's three levels. The work experience activities will be completed online and testing will be held at PSI Test Centers throughout the country.

This guide contains information that covers everything from program requirements and learning outcomes to specific ways of mentoring your associate during this journey. Utilize these tools and see the many benefits that the PGM program brings to the PGA, your associate, and to you and your facility.

As a supervising professional you have the privilege and opportunity to lead your associates through their careers. You probably hope your employees will do the job according to your standards. You desire to transition your standards to others. In doing so you maximize performance, develop employees, and leave a lasting legacy. In this is found the essence of mentoring and leadership. Leadership could be defined as how you work through others. How you work through your associate has a direct effect on their capabilities, performance, and value. You can help ensure your associate gets the most from the PGM program by actively encouraging their participation and mentoring them on a daily basis.

Many associates lose track of program requirements and acceptable progress timelines and find themselves in suspended or terminated status. Through your efforts—the PGA Supervising Professional— associates can be provided with the support and guidance needed to successfully complete the PGM program and attain PGA membership.

Mission of the PGA

The Professional Golfers' Association of America

- The mission of the PGA is to promote the enjoyment and involvement in the game of golf and to contribute to its growth by providing services to golf professionals and the golf industry.
- The PGA will accomplish this mission by enhancing the skills of its professionals and the opportunities for amateurs, employers, manufacturers, employees, and the general public.
- In doing so, the PGA will elevate the standards of the professional golfer's vocation, enhance the economic well-being of the individual member, stimulate interest in the game of golf, and promote the overall vitality of the game.

Mission of the PGA PGM Program

The PGA Professional Golf Management Program (PGM2.0)

The PGA Professional Golf Management Program provides world-class training for aspiring golf professionals by offering skill-based training programs that provide state-of-the-art skills and knowledge. Graduates of this program will become outstanding golf professionals who will provide exceptional service to their customers, employers, fellow professionals and the game of golf.

PGA PGM Program Requirements

What is the PGA Professional Golf Management Program (PGM2.0)?

The PGA Professional Golf Management Program is a world-class training program for all aspiring PGA professionals. It consists of self-studies, seminars, work experience activities and testing components. A learning management system online provides 24 hour access to courses.

What are the program specifics?

The program consists of three levels with courses on The People, The Business and The Game. Course manuals (pdf files) are found online for each level. Associates attend a week long seminar session at the PGA Education Center for each level. After attending the seminars, associates are required to complete and submit a work experience portfolio. Upon approval of this portfolio, associates are eligible to schedule tests on that level at PSI Test Centers. When all tests of a level are passed, the associate can advance to the next level. When all levels are completed the associate may apply for PGA Membership.

How does an individual begin?

Individuals register through PGALinks.com for access to the three qualifying level courses found on the PGA Knowledge Center. Upon completing those courses, passing a Qualifying Test, meeting the PAT requirement, completing the background check and being eligible employed, the individual registers as a PGA Associate and into Level 1 of the PGA Professional Golf Management Program (PGM 2.0).

When does an associate attend seminars?

Upon reviewing all the courses online for a level, an associate may register for a seminar session. Each seminar session is five days in length. Information on the schedule and fees can be found on the Resources Tab of the PGA Knowledge Center. The registration fee for seminars includes the seminars, airfare, meals and lodging.

What is the evaluation process for the portfolio?

The portfolio is submitted electronically to the faculty at the PGA Education Center for evaluation. Associates should allow up to 30 days for the review process. The associate may be asked to provide more substantial answers or documentation in the review process. Upon approval of the portfolio, the associate is notified via email.

PGA PGM Program Requirements

How does an associate schedule testing?

After the work experience portfolio is approved, an email will be sent to the associate from PSI. That email will include a link to PSI's scheduling site and important password information. The associate will schedule an appointment for the package of tests for a particular level directly with PSI. If all tests are not passed at the initial appointment, the associate will then schedule individual appointments for any tests that still need to be passed.

What are the specific courses of the program?

The program curriculum contains three core areas: The People, The Business and The Game. The At-A-Glance Chart on the following page lists the self-study and seminar courses in each level of the PGM 2.0 Program.

PGA Membership Requirements

High School Diploma: Candidates for PGA Membership must have a high school diploma or be at least 18 years of age and have the equivalent of a high school education.

Playing Ability Test: The Playing Ability Test (PAT) is one of the first steps to becoming a PGA Professional. Passing the 36-hole PAT is achieved by scoring equal to or less than the PAT target score. The target score is determined by multiplying the USGA course rating by two and then adding 15 strokes. The PAT is a 36 hole test conducted from the middle tees of the golf course with the flagsticks set on a generally flat area of the green. Although this sounds relatively simple, less than 20-percent of those taking the PAT achieve a passing score.

PGA Professional Golf Management Program Completion: According to the Acceptable Progress policy, associates must successfully complete all Level 1 requirements: seminars, portfolio and testing within two years of the Level 1 start date. Level 2 requirements must be successfully completed within two years of the Level 2 start date. Level 3 and election to PGA Membership must occur by 8 years of the Level 1 start date

Experience/Education Credit: Associates must earn 36 or more work experience credits as defined in the PGA Bylaws and Regulations. Associates will be awarded one (1) experience credit for each month while eligibly employed full time. Twelve credits are awarded for a four year college degree, and six credits are awarded for a two year college degree.

Membership Application: Applications for membership may be submitted after Level three seminars have been completed. Once the application is received and approved by the National and Section office, associates will be elected to membership the first election date following completion of all membership requirements.

On a daily basis, PGA Professionals have the opportunity to mentor and help associates complete the PGM2.0 Program. As leaders of the golf industry, you can and should help your associates. In fact, there are several ways to mentor and motivate your associates as they strive for PGA Membership:

- 1) Link progression or completion of the program into your associate's employment agreement
- 2) Utilize the course learning outcomes to match your facility's activities
- 3) Create a weekly plan in which a certain number of activities must be completed
- 4) Review each inventory checklist to parallel work experience activities with on the job responsibilities that will match specific learning situations at your facility
- 5) Conduct routine study sessions
- 6) Counsel and motivate your associate on a scheduled basis
- 7) Conduct an event to raise money for program fees
- 8) Advise your associate on sources of information for off-site activities
- 9) Attend section/chapter meetings and events with your associates

The possibilities are endless. Communication is the key. Communicate through your words and actions the importance of the associate's progress.

The PGA Education Department has a mentoring program supported by the PGA Members employed as faculty at the PGA Education Center.

These faculty members deliver the seminars and serve as subject matter experts who collaborated to create the curriculum and participate in test writing workshops and passing score reviews.

Associates may contact a mentor with questions concerning the course content, work experience activities and the overall structure of the program. As a Supervising professional, you can take the opportunity to utilize the staff at the PGA Education Center to help you to better understand the program and to guide your associate through the steps to PGA Membership. Mentors can be reached at 1- (866) 866-3382, option 6 or by sending an e-mail to pgagmmmentor@pgahq.com.

Work Experience Portfolio

Work experience activities are required for each course and will be explained during the seminar session and are to be completed when the associate returns to your facility. The associate will gain internet access to the Work Experience Portfolio on Day 1 of the seminar session. The Work Experience Portfolio is located on the PGA Knowledge Center under the Program Requirements tab. The completed Work Experience Portfolio is submitted to the PGA Education Department and will be evaluated by PGM faculty. Allow 30 days for evaluation of the Work Experience Portfolio. Once the Work Experience Portfolio is approved, your associate will be eligible to test.
