BUILDERS. (Contributed.)

(Contributed.)
Some people build great castles,
Ivory pillared, towers high,
With graceful steeples, heedless,
Pierce the happy blue of sky.
Gilded peacocks in the garden,
Where each flower sweet face bean
And a man can loaf at leisure—
All I build is empty dreams.

Some build cottages of happiness,
Some factories of renown,
Some build houses on the sand
That always tumble down.
Some build skystrapers, institutions,
Ocean ships or cunning streams;
They're all revarded one by one— All I build is empty dreams!

All I build is empty dreams!

Special to The Times.

SACRAMENTO, Saturday, June 21.—Carroll Canfield, the young southpaw, pitched to the Se-attle sluggers here today as he has been expected to hurl for the last three years and Sacramento broke through with their second win of the series by a score of 6 to 2. The the series by a score of 6 to 2. The young lefthander pitched a whale of a game, closely followed by "Wheezer" Dell for eight innings. Dell aviated in the ninth, allowing four runs, but up to that time the Indians always had a chance.

Indians always had a chance.

Dell had two bad spots, the second and the eighth. Canfield had none, allowing Seattle seven hits and fanning six batters. Twice the lad struck out Ray Rohwer with the tieing run on second and third with but one out. It was the best exhibition of flinging Canfield has offered on the home diamond.

Billy Lane started the game as though it was going to be a tough day on the youngster, doubling to right. Brady sacrificed him to third. Rohwer fanned out on a wicked curve and Bowman rolled to Hemingway.

Dell Has Trouble.

Dell Has Trouble.

Dell had a bad time in the second inning when the Sacramentans assembled two runs. Art Kochler drove a single to left and Brady made a wonderful play, taking a hit away from Cochran behind the bag to force Art at second.

Siglin singled to left and Mollwitz fouled out to Bowman. McGinnis, the weakest hitter of the club, came up and planted a hit to left, scoring Cochran. Cochran followed with another blow to the same territory, netting a second run for his team. McNeeley grounded to Bowman and then Dell tightened until the eighth. Seattle manufactured a run in the fourth when Bowman hit the centerfield fence for two bases. Jimmy Welsh singled him in. Canfield crawled back into his shell after that. Dell and the lad hurled shutout ball for the next few innings.

"No, mum." replied the boy. "Not with that gang."

Young Star Triumphs Over Classy Field at Vancouver-Mortie Dutra and Phil Taylor Even—Johnny Jones Does Well.

By ROBERT W. BOYCE.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Saturday, June 21.—Neil Christian of the Yakima Golf and Country Club won't the Pacific Northwest Professional Golfers' Association championship over Shaughnessy Heights this afternoon by shooting, 289 for 72 holes. His victory was a complete upset in so far as predictions went. Phil Taylor, pro at Oak Bay, Victoria, who won the championship last year, was considered a strong contender before the first ball was shot away but Friday when Dr. O. F. Willing of Portland, came in with one hundred and thirty-seven for 36 holes the wiseacres took a different stance.

There are peculiar angles to today's game. Take Dayy Black, for Instance. He is the professional at Shaughnessy and knows that codrise, as Opie Read would say, from cover to cover but he cracked today. His big effort was made Friday, when he lost his chânce of making a course record by overshooting the hole on his putts.

Phil Taylor, Jast year's champion, had a beautiful chance of repeating and copping the honors, and to show you how close the competition was, it might be said that on the fourteenth this afternoon be putted for a championship and lost?

Had he sunk that ten-foot putt, on fourteen he would at least have tied with Christian for the title, but he falled by less than an inch. And that is a fact. The ball rimmed the cup, hesitated and then just rolled around the side. It was tha putt for a championship for Phil Taylor.

The failure of that putt and, believe me, Taylor knew, what it meant, would have broken the heart of a sarazen, but Phil merely smilled and said, as he picked up his ball, "Well, that's golf." I guess it was, Anyway, it meant the passing of a championship by one stroke.

Tough on Taylor, the was a source of the procession of the passing of a championship. It is kind of hard to lose a championship by one stroke.
