Price of Bowling Lines
May Go Up Next Season

By ALEX SHULTS

Just between us girls, bowling lines may be more expensive before the league trundlers settle down to another winter season. There's rumbling about a pin-setters' strike for more money, and if the alley operators are forced to grant it, the raise almost surely will be passed along to the chap who tosses at the pin-setters' toes.

PUGET LEADERS WIN LOGG BAGS NO-HIT VICTORY

PUGET SOUND LEAGUE

Boosters	W. L.	W. L.
Transit	1	0

By HARRY SHARPE

With the Seattle Boosters and Seattle Teamsters hanging tough in their tie for the Puget Sound Baseball League lead yesterday, most of the fireworks were packed into Les Logg's no-hit 4-2 victory for Napier & Scott over Air Station.

The Navy team didn't get a single hit off the former West Seattle High School star but scored two runs on overthrows by Catcher Paul Wendelin in the second and third innings for an early lead.

Napier & Scott came back for three runs in the fourth and one in the fifth. Vic Marconi, Napier center fielder, banged a home run. Logg struck out nine hitters.

The leaders posted top-sided wins, the Teamsters rolling over the Colored Giants, 14-2, while the Boosters walloped the Coast Guard, 14-1, behind Dave Brown's four-hit pitching. Seattle Transit tied off on the Seattle Eagles for an 11-1 triumph, with Lukka and Coolen, Transit pitchers, giving up only five hits. Ernie Patricelli hit a homer for Transit.

The Teamsters collected 15 hits, including triples by Frank Simpson and Lloyd Hillard.

Colvin and Thorleson of the Boosters each got three hits. The Ballad club collected 17 off Ray Ortel and Gudel, Coast Guard hurlers. Ballad scored six runs in the third inning.

RAINERS TEST PICK OF THREE COAST OUTFITS

By ALEX SHULTS

There'll be a new meaning to the ceremony this evening when the lights at Sick's Stadium are turned down and the strains of the national anthem ring out as the American flag flutters up the flagpole in center field.

The Seattle Rainiers, 20 opposing All-Star players, have "enlisted."

Through their efforts, huge stacks of athletic equipment will be delivered to the young men from all parts of the country who are quartered in Northwest Army encampments and Navy posts.

Pacific Coast Leaguers are playing this All-Star game here, and another in Oakland this evening. Later they'll be an all-league affair in Los Angeles, and other charity performances.

The game should be one of Seattle's finest sports spectacles, one that will linger on in memory like the terrific 21-inning duel at the Victory Girls' Carnival in the First World War.

Later, the time of the Western Mail's southpawed a shipyard soldier and sailor.

The Seattle Rainiers will throw their strongest line-up—Farmer Hal Turpin has been nominated for

All-Star Line-Up

Here is the way the teams will square off for the Pacific Coast League All-Star game at Sick's Stadium at 8:15 o'clock tonight, with the Seattle Rainiers facing the pick of the Los Angeles, San Francisco and Portland teams:

All-Stars:
Lindsay Brown, Portland..... shortstop
Eddie Waitkus, Los Angeles..... first base
Barney Olson, Los Angeles..... right field
Eddie Mayo, Los Angeles..... third base
Ralph Hodgins, San Francisco..... left field
Brooks Holder, San Francisco..... center field
Al Wright, Portland..... second base
Al Todd, Los Angeles..... catcher
Ray Prim, Los Angeles..... pitcher
Umpires—Jack Powell, Dewey Widner, Bill Doran and Henry Fanning.

All-Star substitutes: Pitchers—Sam Gibson and Ed Stutz, San Francisco, and Ad Liska, Portland. Catchers—Joe Sprinz and Bruce Ogonowski, San Francisco. Infielders—Larry Barton, Portland; Roy Hughes, Los Angeles, and Ollie Bejma, San Francisco. Outfielders—Rupert Thompson and Danny Amaral, Portland.

Managers: Seattle, Bill Skiff; All-Stars, Arnold Stutz of Los Angeles, Lefty O'Doul of San Francisco and Frank Brazill of Portland.

pitching chores—into the battle against the pick of three rival teams.

From Los Angeles come such stars as little Ray Prim, the amazing southpaw pitcher; big Al Todd, the slugger; catcher; the infielders Eddie, Waitkus and Mayo and Barney Olson, the sensational outfielder.

From the San Francisco Seals are Sad Sam Gibson, who beat the Rainiers Saturday afternoon; Catchers Joe Sprinz and Bruce Ogonowski, and these speedy outfielders Brooks Holder and Ralph Hodgins. The latter's batting played a big part in the Seals' series victory last week.

Portland is sending up Lindsay Brown and Al Wright, the great keystone pair; Danny Amaral, young outfield sensation; Ad Liska, submarine pitcher; Rip Barton, Larry Barton and Rupert Thompson, the slugger outfielder.

The team will bristle with managerial brains. Arnold (Jigger) Stutz of the Angels is manager-in-chief.

aided by Lefty O'Doul of the San Francisco Seals and Frank Brazill, the new Portland skipper.

Playing a team like that is quite an assignment for the three-time champion Seattle Rainiers, but Skipper Bill Skiff says his charges are ready. The Rainiers are in a batting slump that skidded them from first place to fourth in the Pacific Coast League standings, but "The All-Star game is a good time to snap out of it," challenged Skipper Skiff.

Pre-game ceremonies will be brief.

Eugene Long, winner of a $50 War Bond by naming the All-Star starting line-up, will be presented with a detachment of the armed forces will participate in a brief drill, a military band will play and the game will be on.

All seats in Sick's Stadium, except the bleachers, will be reserved and will be obtained today at 25¢ of the downtown agencies or at the baseball park. Usual Sunday and holiday prices prevail.

Unless they're needed in the All-Star game tomorrow night, Barrett and Soriano are the probable choices to face the Angels in the opening twin bill Wednesday. That will enable the Kewpie to work twice against the league leaders, whom he usually beats without much trouble.

Libke just about pitched himself into the No. 1 relief spot, inasmuch as Sjl Johnson still hasn't proved that his injured elbow is ready for work.
