Berg 10-stroke winner in N. W. Open

By GIL LYONS The brilliant play of Tim Berg stood out like a beacon in a storm during the $30,-000 Equitable Savings Northwest Open golf championship at demanding Sahalee Country Club. Berg virtually lapped the field to win a second championship, this one by the runaway margin of ten strokes.

The Portland director of golf shot rounds of 74-70, even par, to finish the 72-hole grind at 283, five strokes under par on the 7,000-yard, trouble-filled course east of Lake Sammamish.

THINGS BECAME so hard, there would be a dogroutine for Berg that, to keep himself sharp, he concentrated on trying to beat Fligene. He missed by a morning with double-bogeys stroke.
