Acton edged Gary Lindeblad, pro from Liberty Lake, Wash., by a single stroke to pick up the $3,500 first-place check.

Nets get OK to sell

CHICAGO — (AP) — The National Basketball Association's Board of Governors gave conditional approval yesterday to the sale of the financially troubled New Jersey Nets.

On a unanimous voice vote, the board gave the prospective purchasers until August 26 to present documents of a sale to Commissioner Lawrence O'Brien and the N.B.A. advisory committee.

O'Brien and the committee have been empowered by the board to fold the Nets franchise if they determine that the one outlined at the board's four-hour meeting. The Nets owe an estimated $19 million.

Martin-Jackson feud still raging

Compiled from news services

The Reggie Jackson-Billy Martin struggle may not be over after all.

Martin's version of his resignation from the Yankees, and Jackson's reaction to those comments, sent shock waves through the team yesterday requiring a vote of confidence for both Jackson and Martin by George Steinbrenner, Yankees principal owner.

"I think both men have grown up in the last year," Steinbrenner said after the Yankees' 8-7 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers in Yankee Stadium vaulted them into second place, 7½ games behind Boston. "I have confidence Billy will be back in 1980. I hold Reggie in high esteem."

Martin, in a gathering with reporters, singled out Jackson as the prime cause for his resignation, but insisted he has "no malice in my heart" for the controversial $3 million slugger.

OVER THE spaghetti, ravioli and steak pizzaiola, Martin said that anger over Jackson's actions upon his return from a five-day suspension prompted him to resign as manager of the Yankees and to utter his ill-advised "liar" comments about Jackson and Steinbrenner.

At the same time, Martin again said he was sorry that he described Steinbrenner as a "convicted liar" but he refused to back down from his statement that Jackson is a "born liar."

"I'll have to ask my parents if I was born a liar," Jackson said wearily last night, "but other than that my comment is what I've been saying all year — I have no comment and I have nothing bad to say about anybody."

However, the controversial slugger was summoned to Steinbrenner's office less than an hour before last night's game with Milwaukee.

"He did the talking and I listened," Jackson said. "I respect

George Steinbrenner and that's all I'm gonna say. I know what I said and what I feel but what he told me he told me in confidence."

Jackson, while not commenting directly on Martin's version, said it was "sickening" playing in New York.

STEINBRENNER was neither surprised nor offended by Jackson's comment. He said he thought Jackson meant it for the fans who have booed him since Martin's resignation in Kansas.

City July 24. Steinbrenner also said the booing was the main subject of a meeting between him and Jackson yesterday.

"I called Reggie up but it had nothing to do with the Martin thing," said Steinbrenner. "I owe no explanation to anybody on that team. I told Reggie, 'Your friendship is important to me.'"

TIPS FOR WATER SAFETY

1. Land and enter the current facing upstream—stern in first and out last.
2. Travel in at least groups of three boats while on the river. Keep the boat behind you in sight.
3. Capsized? Stay at the upstream end of the canoe. Don't take chances saving equipment. Leave the boat and swim if doing so will improve your safety, especially in cold or very rough water.
4. Think ahead. Set your course well in advance. Know your approach.
